In one of Asia's fastest growing beer market, India, Lemount is now to be positioned to lead.

A brand for masses.
A brand for thousands and thousands of people.
A truly Indian brand.

And brands begin with a narrative.
Grow and remain relevant with a narrative.

What could ours be?

OUTE 1. ROUTE 1. ROUTE 1.ROUTE 1.

CAN WE MAKE LEMOUNT PART OF THE INVITATION?

You know where you'll meet. You know who'll be late.
You can probably guess how the first ten minutes will go.
And still, you look forward to it all day.

With this gang, a regular catch-up can be the best part of your day.
And the anticipation starts with that first "milte hain".
Even the beer needs little discussion. Our research shows the group already knows its usual choice. One friend simply brings it along.

For "Best evenings start with Lemount", this is where we begin.
In the invitation that gets everyone together.

BOLD PLAYFUL UNAPOLOGETICALLY EXPRESSIVE

The evening starts with an invitation.
So should Lemount.

“Aa ja na.”

Good evenings often start with just that.
Occasion hai toh great. Nahi hai toh bhi aa ja.
Kahaan baithenge, kaun-kaun aayega... woh sab ho jaayega.
Pehle tu haan toh bol.

Bas, aate hue ek cheez le aana...

SCENE HAI? LEMOUNT LE AA. / 1 OF 3

Imagine dropping into different groups making their evening plans. Every invitation is over a call or voice note to a friend who hasn't arrived yet. We see both sides, then catch glimpses of the evenings coming together.

We open in a newly rented flat. A guy sends a voice note:
"Naya ghar liya hai. Lemount le aa."
Cut to his friend arriving with Lemount. The grand housewarming is three friends sitting on unpacked cartons. The host dusts off the only chair and offers it to him.

On a rooftop, someone films the empty space and sends it to a friend.
"Chhat khaali hai. Lemount le aa."
As he hits send, another friend enters carrying a ridiculous number of folding chairs.

SCENE HAI? LEMOUNT LE AA. / 2 OF 3

Cut to someone unfolding a board game, phone tucked against his ear.
“Kal chhutti hai. Lemount le aa.”
His friend, already settled on the sofa at home, hears the gang arguing about teams in the background. He puts down the remote and gets up.

Another guy starts recording a voice note. We see the duration climbing. He stops, deletes the whole thing and sends:
“Kissa thoda lamba hai. Lemount le aa.”

The pace picks up. A phone buzzes with:
“Ek announcement hai. Lemount le aa.”
Cut to the gathering, Lemount on the table. Their friend takes a breath. “Bhai, main papa ban gaya.” One friend gets up to hug him. Another blurts out, “Tu toh single tha?”
He turns his phone around. It’s a puppy asleep on his chest.
The friend halfway through the hug sits back down. Then looks at the photo again. “Isko kyun nahi laaya?”

SCENE HAI? LEMOUNT LE AA. / 3 OF 3

Then we see a guy looking at an old photograph of his friends. He sends it to the group with a voice note:
“Kaafi time ho gaya hai. Lemount le aa.”
Cut to them together again, attempting the same pose. One friend insists everyone is standing in the wrong place.

We finish with quick glimpses of the evenings in full flow. The carton housewarming. The rooftop filling up. The board-game rivalry. Everyone reacting to that long story. Lemount sits naturally among the people, food and conversation.

Over the final moments and pack shot, we hear:
“Bold Strong Beer for all kinds of plans.
Toh bas... Scene hai? Lemount le aa!”

THE PLANS ARRIVE BEFORE THE ANSWER.

We tease the launch through short, overheard voice notes: “Naya ghar liya hai.” “Kissa thoda lamba hai.” “Kal chhutti hai.” Each plays over a glimpse of the scene taking shape. The launch film brings them together with the recurring answer: “Lemount le aa.”

Socials

INVITES WORTH FORWARDING.

A series of short, shareable video invitations made for the group chat. An empty terrace slowly fills with chairs: “Chhat khaali hai.” An old group photograph gains one new message: “Kaafi time ho gaya hai.” Every invite signs off with the campaign line.

THE SCENE BOARD

At partner bars, groups put up a card announcing their evening's very specific occasion. "Flatmate ne finally deposit lauta diya hai." "Sabne time pe reply kiya hai." A host picks the best stories for a quick conversation and each group gets a photograph with its own campaign line.

AAJ KA SCENE, HOSTED BY LEMOUNT.

Collaborate with local board-game hosts, comics and music selectors for small evenings at partner venues. Each invitation follows the same format: “Game night hai.” “Naye jokes hain.” The route becomes a recognisable series people can keep coming back to.

GOAL!!!
OUTE 2. ROUTE 2. ROUTE 2.ROUTE 2.

CAN WE TURN AN EVERYDAY EVENING INTO A BLOCKBUSTER?

The plan was only to meet.
Just the people you look forward to seeing, after another ordinary day.
But put this lot together and there’s always something worth staying for.
A familiar habit becomes a running joke. Someone’s story gets a full audience.

You stop checking the time. “Thodi der” becomes the best part of the day.
That is Summit in an everyday evening: an ordinary day finding its high point.

Lemount gives these moments the importance we already feel they deserve.
The company is the cast. The evening is the entertainment.
Now let’s give it the blockbuster treatment.

STRONG QUIRKY FULL OF ENERGY

Your everyday evening deserves the blockbuster treatment.

“Cast toh dekho.”

Someone’s always making an entrance.
Someone can turn anything into a full debate.
Aur koi ek line bolke poori table ko hansa deta hai.
With this lot, “bas baithte hain” is never just that.

Lemount aa gayi. Everyone’s in their element.
Ab aisi cast ke saath...

SHAAM HOGI SUPERHIT / 1 OF 4

I think this deserves a full blockbuster-trailer treatment. Big musical pauses and dramatic announcements, each landing on a familiar moment between friends.

We open on a terrace with school friends around a carrom board. Lemount bottles and snacks sit beside them.
“Iss shaam... ACTION hoga.”

The player passes his Lemount to his teammate and prepares for the deciding shot. We go close on his eyes, his fingers, the queen. His teammate holds his sleeve out of the way without being asked.
He misses completely.

The teammate gently puts the sleeve back down and hands him his Lemount with a chuckle. He accepts it with a sheepish grin as the winning pair celebrate.

SHAAM HOGI SUPERHIT / 2 OF 4

Cut to a different balcony. College friends are meeting one friend's new girlfriend for the first time.
"DRAMA hoga."
She asks, "College mein bhi itna shareef tha?"

His oldest friend freezes halfway through putting his bottle down. Everyone turns towards the boyfriend, who gives his oldest friend a pleading look.
"Bhai..."
His friend puts a reassuring hand on his shoulder.
"Bilkul. Phir second year shuru hua."

The music hits. The girlfriend pulls her chair closer as the stories begin. One friend starts enthusiastically acting something out. The boyfriend tries to interrupt, but she gently pushes him back into his chair: "Tumhaari baari aayegi."
He gives in, laughing with everyone.

SHAAM HOGI SUPERHIT / 3 OF 4

We're now in a different living room with former flatmates. One arrives carrying Lemount: "Main bas ek ghante ke liye aaya hoon."

The VO drops into its deepest register:

"Aur kuch ALL-TIME HIT DIALOGUES."

His friends answer in chorus: "Haan, haan. Ek ghanta." One takes the bottles while another pulls out his usual chair and deals him into the game. He looks at the cards, then their knowing smiles, and sits down.

"Aur MUSIC... repeat pe chalega."

Cut to another terrace. Office colleagues put on their quietest teammate's favourite song. He passes his Lemount to the colleague beside him and gets up.

We expect a shy little performance. He knows every word, every move. His colleagues stare in delighted surprise, then jump in as backing dancers. The colleague holding his bottle puts it safely on the table and joins them.

SHAAM HOGI SUPERHIT / 4 OF 4

Now a flurry of moments. The carrom player asks for another shot while his teammate laughingly shields the board. The girlfriend joins in the laughter as her boyfriend mouths “Bas kar” to his oldest friend. Our “one-hour” visitor takes off his watch and settles deeper into his chair. The office group attempts the dance, each in their own wonderfully different way.

The VO builds:
“Action. Drama. Hit dialogues. Aur aisi star cast...”

One last wide shot of the colleagues performing the chorus together. Their quiet teammate turns to discover everyone copying him and breaks into a huge smile.

We land on the bottle and can.
“Lemount. Bold Strong Beer.”
“Shaam Hogi Superhit.”

TONIGHT'S BIGGEST RELEASE.

Introduce the campaign through movie-style character posters: "The 'Bas Ek Ghanta' Guy." "The Unofficial DJ." "The Storyteller: Extended Cut." Each features a recognisable friend-group character, with Lemount in the setting. The posters lead into the hero film as the big release.

EVERY GROUP HAS THIS SCENE.

Short reels use the trailer VO to announce everyday drama. “Ek shocking plot twist...” A friend discovers his missing shirt on his former flatmate. “Ek blockbuster entry...” The person who always cancels actually turns up. Each ends with “Shaam Hogi Superhit.”

YOUR EVENING GETS A TRAILER.

At a partner bar, a roaming crew captures a few willing groups through the evening. Arrivals, games, laughter, dramatic storytelling. Each group receives a short personalised trailer with movie titles, a big VO and their names in the credits. Their actual evening becomes a Lemount Superhit.

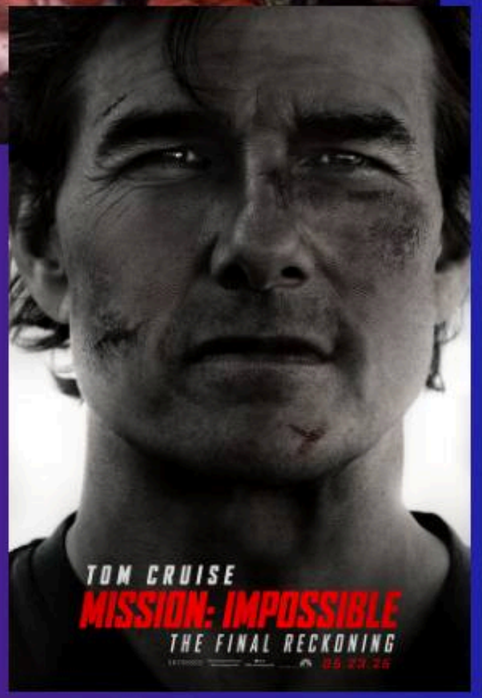

THE DOST AWARDS.

A playful awards night where friends nominate each other for Best Dramatic Performance, Best Supporting Dost and Lifetime Achievement in “Bas Paanch Minute”. A comic hosts the nominations, gets the stories behind them and presents movie-style portraits of the winners.

CAN WE MAKE GETTING TOGETHER THE OCCASION?

Getting everyone together took some doing.
Someone moved a plan. Someone came across town because “sab aa rahe hain”.
You’ve made the effort. Nobody wants to leave after one quick catch-up.

This group has an energy you never quite find one-on-one.
Everyone brings something. Together, it becomes a different evening.
That is Summit through coming together: the gang creating its own peak.

There doesn’t need to be a bigger occasion.
With your people and Lemount, being together is reason enough.

TOGETHERNESS ENERGY SPARK

You've made time for each other. Now make an evening of it.

THE STORY WE BUILD

“Sab aa rahe hain?”

Now that’s worth showing up for.
Calls pe toh catch-up hota rehta hai.
But the whole gang in one room? Different energy.
Apni-apni playlists le aana. We’ll find our song.
One starts singing. The rest don’t need an invitation.

COLLAB LAUNCH CONTENT

Raftaar × Rashmeet Kaur × SickFlip

This is a launch in the form of an artist collaboration.

We bring three distinct sounds together for one Lemount original launch. Raftaar brings the verses and swag, Rashmeet brings the melodic and sonic finishes and SickFlip builds the beat. Imagine them writing the lines, playing off each other and building towards a chorus everyone can join.

What gets made

An original "Milenge Toh Machega" track and music video, with a 45-second hero launch film drawn from it. The video captures their coming together, with Lemount naturally part of the gathering.

What we get out of it

- A launch moment: three artists introducing Lemount to their audiences.
- A campaign hook: a chorus that carries the line into reels, events and group singalongs.
- Content to keep it moving: artist teasers, verse edits, behind-the-scenes exchanges and chorus cutdowns.

The collaboration brings the strategy to life: each artist adds their energy until the track reaches one shared peak.

SOUTH-FIRST LEAD OPTIONS

Choose one lead for the first launch market. Build the trio around their sound.

DABZEE | MALAYALAM
“Illuminati” bounce, easy swagger.
A Malayalam verse to set it off.
Our Kerala-first option.

ARIVU | TAMIL
Folk-rap with a big group pulse.
Rooted rhythm, a chorus to join.
Our Tamil-first option.

ALL OK | KANNADA
Conversational Kannada swagger.
A playful, easy-to-join hook.
Our Karnataka-first option.

One South lead + a contrasting hook voice + SickFlip.
Write the hook in the launch language. “Milenge toh Machega” remains the brand sign-off.

Proposed shortlist. Final choice depends on launch state, fees and availability.

Three pieces. One reveal.

Each artist releases a different fragment: a verse, a vocal hook, a beat. The fragments share a musical clue but leave the full sound unresolved. The launch reveals how they fit together in the Lemount original, “Milenge Toh Machega.”

Finish it with your gang.

Create a call-and-response section within the track. The artists deliver the call, leaving a space for groups to answer with the hook. Friends, dance crews and musicians make their own versions, with the strongest contributions brought into a community chorus edit.

REEL Concept- The Cousins' Reunion

At a family function, there's a group of cousins who haven't met in months. In the beginning the greetings are polite & slightly awkward...everyone is holding Lemount in their hands.
One cousin says- "Waise, yaad hai jab..."
And starts an old embarrassing story about the family.
Then the others jump in with corrections, extra details and accusations.
A few seconds in and the story has now become a full group argument, with everyone talking at once.
Suddenly, someone calls from the other room- "Tum log phir shuru ho gaye?"
Cut to end frame: Milenge toh machega.
